

Conditional Admission & Partner Language Schools

Students who are interested in attending Foothill or De Anza College but do not yet meet the minimum English proficiency requirement can choose to apply for Conditional Admission and attend one of our partner English language schools before transferring to us.

Applicants who indicate on the application that they are attending or will attend one of the partner language schools listed below will receive a Conditional Letter of Admission. Once the specified level of English is achieved, the student can receive full admission and transfer to Foothill or De Anza without submitting any additional English proficiency test score.
